Position: Communications Director

Description:

Serve as an integral part of a growing team at the Jewish Democratic Council of America (JDCA) as Communications Director. We are accepting qualified applications on a rolling basis until the position is filled. This is a full-time position based in Washington, D.C.

Responsibilities:

The Communications Director will serve as the leading member of JDCA's team executing the organization's communications strategy. The Communications Director will have regular contact with local, national, and international media outlets regarding JDCA's advocacy, election, and other efforts – including pitching press and responding to breaking news. The Communications Director will create pro-active communication strategies for JDCA's advocacy campaigns, develop JDCA press releases and op-eds, organize interviews and speaking engagements for JDCA leadership, and help to expand JDCA's growing national profile. The Communications Director will report to the Executive Director, and work closely with JDCA's national Board of Directors, staff and consultants to ensure communications efforts are aligned with the political and advocacy work of the organization. The Communications Director will also oversee JDCA's social media profile and digital operations.

Experience:

- College degree in communications or a related field.
- 5-10 years of communications, press, or related experience.
- Established relationships and connections with national media outlets.
- Exceptional written and communications skills.
- Passion for advancing Jewish and Democratic values.

Compensation:

- Compensation commensurate on professional experience.

To apply:

- Please email your cover letter, a writing sample and resume to info@jewishdems.org. Subject line should read: "ATTN: Application for Communications Director – Your Full Name." Applications will not be considered without all requested information. No phone calls please.
